Russians Lift Blockade After Allies Show Unity

BERLIN (CP) — The Russian blockade of the West German autobahn was lifted today after the Allies showed unity.

A two-day war of nerves over Allied rights ended in the small hours after the British and French sent units on to the 110-mile autobahn in support of the American convoy blocked since Monday by the Russians.

The British and French convoys went through without interference. And early today the Soviet officers dropped their demand that the 44 American soldiers submit to a head count. Then they pulled back the army.

As soon as the convoy was safely through, the U.S. Army sent 56 more men on to the autobahn, travelling from West Germany to West Berlin in four vehicles.

There might have been shooting if convoy dispute continued—Mr. K.

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said today that if the convoy dispute on the Berlin autobahn had continued there might have been shooting—perhaps total war.

Speaking to a group of visiting American businessmen, Khrushchev said it was good the argument had ended, otherwise "it is possible that you and I would not be here today."

He added: "We could not have yielded and they would have had to move over our dead bodies."

Khrushchev said the dispute was solved only because the American convoy commander finally agreed to "observe the established procedure" regarding Soviet checking of the convoy.

In Berlin, U.S. authorities said precisely the opposite. They told correspondents that the Russians—not the Americans—had backed down. The argument was whether the American troops should get out of their trucks to be counted by Soviet border officials.

Khrushchev warned that more trouble may be coming on the East German autobahn to Berlin. He said Western convoys "will be held up in the future" if American, French and British authorities fail to observe what he called "established procedures."

Greater Negro Voice First "Before Rhodesian Freedom"

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations General Assembly voted again today to ask Britain to withhold independence from Southern Rhodesia until the Negro majority there shares in governmental control.

The vote in the assembly was 73 to 2, with 18 abstentions. The United Kingdom continued its policy of refusing to participate in the voting on grounds that the issue is outside UN jurisdiction.

Canada abstained in line with previous stands, contending that informal and private methods of consultation gave the best prospect for progress in the issue.

The assembly approved a similar resolution a month ago, "inviting" Britain not to transfer sovereignty to Southern Rhodesia until a full representative government had been established.

It also asked Britain not to transfer armed forces to Southern Rhodesia under the plan drawn up by the Central African Federation of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Today's motion also asks Britain to hold without delay a constitutional conference with representatives of all political parties of the territory to establish constitutional arrangements for independence based on universal adult suffrage and to set a date for independence.

British spokesmen have expressed confidence in the past that the present government of Premier Winston Field will work to increase the legislative representation of the Negroes who outnumber the whites by some 3,500,000 to 200,000.

It was announced in London Tuesday that Northern Rhodesia will gain full internal government next year.

MAYBE AIRLIFT WOULD BE BEST

CAUSAPSCAL, Que (CP) — Mayor George Barnard kept his eyes directly lowered, but the aldermen and about 30 taxpayers at the Causapscal council meeting roared with laughter Tuesday night at a letter from the federal transport department proposing to establish a maritime industry at Causapscal "if the port facilities are adequate."

The letter said the measure is being considered because Causapscal has been listed as an "economically feasible" area.

The department posed two conditions. One was that Causapscal should now have a maritime industry. (The secretary-treasurer had to stop reading the letter at this point until the laughter died down).

The second was that Causapscal should have certain port facilities for such an industry. (Here the audience went into paroxysms of laughter.)

Causapscal is in the Notre-Dame Mountains, 750 feet above sea level and about 50 miles from either the St. Lawrence River or the Bale des Chaleurs.

"We'll tell the federal government to dig a canal first," said an alderman.

France Hit By Strikes

PARIS (Reuters) — Two million French public service workers went on a 24-hour strike today to protest the government's wage-restraint policy.

Electricity cuts halted Paris subway trains, domestic gas pressure went down, there were no postal deliveries and children had a day off from school.

Air control personnel stopped work early today, but military technicians were moved in to keep services moving.

The state-run French railway system put into service all available steam and diesel trains to replace electric trains, but some trains had to be cancelled and services were rearranged.

All the main civil service unions joined in the strike call. But some unionists agreed to maintain the supply of electricity to a section of central Paris to save a man in an iron lung who could not be transferred to hospital.

The new wave of labor discontent follows the government's economic stabilization plan to keep prices down and combat inflation.

Discriminatory Terms Said Cause Of Possible Deadlock

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said today Soviet plans to buy American wheat on any difficulties arising at the meeting.

Khrushchev complained especially about high American shipping rates.

"There is argument now on the cost of transportation," he said. "The U.S. is insisting on shipping only in U.S.-owned ships. The transportation costs for American-owned vessels are greater than they are for vessels owned by other nations and we don't want to pay any unnecessary premium."

"We want equal conditions on an equal footing with other countries. We agree to use American ships, but at world prices."

Home Building Important In Winter Work Plans

House building will play a major role in the federal government's upcoming winter work program. The government recently revealed plans to ensure that the housing industry, one of Canada's most important employers, will be kept as busy during the winter months as it is during warmer days. If successful, the measures should contribute substantially towards maintaining employment over the next six months.

Specifically, the government measures are in the form of special incentives intended to encourage prospective home owners to "build or buy that house this winter." The government believes that the dwelling units to be built under the incentives, in addition to those of the normal industry output, will provide a tremendous boost in employment in the construction industry this winter. Concurrently, the increased activity should create thousands more employment opportunities in allied industries producing building materials, consumer durables, furnishings required for new houses and other services associated with new housing.

The winter house building incentive program is one of the measures. First disclosed in the House of Commons last summer in a statement on the government's employment and manpower development program, it is one of several measures advanced by Honourable Allan J. MacEachen, minister of labor, to resolve Canada's unemployment problem. The program provides for a direct payment of $500 to the owner-builder or the first purchaser of a winter-built house.

The $500 payment may be applied against the cost of the house or used for any other purpose. It applies to single houses and to each unit in multiple residential buildings of not more than four units. For example, a four-unit building could qualify for a $2,000 incentive payment.

The measure is based on the premise that Canadian builders know how to build in the winter and that with modern building techniques winter-built houses are as good, and sometimes better, than those built in the summer.

Under this program, a winter-built house means a single dwelling, or a multiple housing structure of not more than four units, on which the major part of the construction is completed during the period from December 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964. Construction may proceed to the first-floor joist stage before December 1, 1963.

This means that the foundation and sub-flooring can be put in place before the really cold weather. The dwellings must be completed on or before March 31, 1964, except for outside painting, landscaping and walks and driveways.

Too Many Amateurs!

(Nelson Daily News)

Too many amateurs are getting into the hotel and motel business, says Jack Freestone, president of the Saskatchewan Hotels Association, and too many men from farms and other businesses are buying up motels and not running them properly.

Thus, of course, is but another variant of the old desire of many people to own a corner store. Those days have long since gone but at its height the craze for ownership of such stores found many people with no business sense or knowledge sinking and losing their little capital in small groceries.

Today, to many people, the motel seems a gold mine with the glittering opportunity to make money easily, so they buy one, little realizing that the operation of a motel is a skilled one, calling for much hard work, many abilities, not the least of these the ability to meet the public.

Most motels change hands when they are beginning to run down and from then on they begin to change ownership frequently. The new owners make no improvement and the appearance of the motel deteriorates.

A good outward appearance is a sign, among other things, of the motel operator's pride in his property. Like a ship, a motel needs constant painting and renovation. By looking merely at the outside of motels in Nelson one can imagine if the interior matches this exterior they offer first class accommodation. They are a credit to their owners and the city.

Perhaps because British Columbia is more urban than rural there are few complaints of badly dressed operators, from which, according to Mr. Freestone, Saskatchewan suffers, but it is a point to which all operators should pay attention. Every business demands of those engaged in it that they dress well. This is especially true of those who have to meet the public. Dress, indeed, is a measure of self-respect as well as respect for others. A badly dressed man or a woman who appears in public with her hair in curlers is contemptuous of others.

Saskatchewan, according to Mr. Freestone, has set up a compulsory course in hotel and motel management which must be passed before an applicant can be granted an operator's licence. This may be necessary and achieve its object in Saskatchewan but it is hardly necessary in B.C. where the standard is relatively high. The greatest merit of a compulsory course is that it restricts the freedom of the individual.

A great deal more can be achieved by co-operation than compulsion and if motel operators in B.C. pursue that path and seek constantly to raise their standards they can be sure that their operations will be successful.

Necktie Threat Not Biggest To Male's Dress Autonomy

TORONTO (CP)—It is not true, as it seems at Christmas, that the necktie-wearing woman is the biggest threat to male autonomy in dress.

Electronic computers doing calculations at the rate of 12,000,000 an hour have come up with the evidence that wives actually thrust more shirts, socks and underwear upon their menfolk and that the necktie intrusion is relatively minor.

The machines were set in motion by the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association for the 1963 edition of its Canadian Consumer Survey, a study of the buying habits of 42,000 households in 77 cities served by dailies.

Information from the sampling, crammed into 312 pages of statistics just off the press, indicates preferences in buying, article by article and brand by brand, in each city and region. Feminine browsing in the men's wear department is one of about 400 habits studied.

According to the women—and this part of the data is from them—20 per cent of wives buy their men's shirts, 19 per cent buy socks, 18 buy underwear and 13 buy ties and sweaters. Three per cent say they buy men's suits and hats.

NOTE EXCEPTIONS

The figures exhibit considerable consistency across the country. For instance, 20 per cent of wives buy shirts in each geographical region—though here and there men buck the female influence or knuckle down more than average.

Most remarkable divergence comes in the purchase of socks by French-speaking wives. In the five cities where the households are sorted out by language—Montreal, N.B., Quebec, Sherbrooke, Que., Montreal and Ottawa—less than one-half of one per cent of French wives buy this article.

In contrast, English-speaking households of these cities go along at approximately the 18-per cent national average.

In hat-buying for men, on the other hand, the French wife gets more leeway. In all five cities, the percentage ranges between 11 and 13 per cent—about quadruple the national average of three. But in New Westminster, B.C., at the other extreme, not enough wives buy hats to register as a percentage point.

MOST WOMEN BAKE

Less mystifying explorations of the survey show that 96 per cent of Canadian women do some baking at home, 53 per cent of men and 41 per cent of women smoke cigarettes, most drug products are bought in grocery stores and Torontonians buy more headache remedies than anyone.

Eighty-four per cent of the men in the rugged paper-mill city of Corner Brook, Nfld., use after-shave lotion—the national high. The low is 18 at Kamloops, B.C., and the national figure is 51.

Cigarette smoking varies widely. Against the men's national figure of 33 per cent, 32 in Cornwall, Ont., and only 18 in Victoria were indicated. Cornwall also led in women smokers with 64 per cent against the over-all 47 while Woodstock showed low with 25.

Women prefer filter tips and men plain. Twelve per cent of all smokers roll their own; the Atlantic provinces lead with 17 per cent and, movie horse opera to the contrary, The Prairies do no better than second with 15.

British Columbians, possibly reflecting tranquillizing influence of mountains and sea, have the lowest call for headache remedies—78 per cent against the national 92. Toronto's 99 gets a close run from Montreal, where racial barriers are ignored for an all-around 98.

DIFFER ON VITAMINS

British Columbians also feel the least need for vitamin tablets, only 32 per cent buying compared with the national 40. Ontario is high with 45 and the top community is Sault Ste. Marie with 58. Maybe the Corner Brook paper-maker saves enough on vitamins to splurge on his shaving lotion, for this is the low city with 24 per cent.

BIBLE BRIEF

Love worketh love to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.—Romans 13:10.

The responsibility of neighborliness extends to all men, and love is positive goodness that is alive and at work in a whole wide world.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 64 and am feeling tops. My doctor discovered from X-rays that I have diverticulosis and to watch it, but he didn't say what to watch. I understand most older people have this condition. Some say it starts cancer. Do you have a booklet on the subject?—E.M.

Yes, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." To receive a copy, write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing 25 cents in coin and an unstamped, self-addressed envelope. Diverticulosis doesn't require special "watching" in most cases; knowing it exists saves time and trouble if it ever bleeds or becomes painful. No, it does not "start cancer."

Dear Dr. Molner: I am suffering from a gassy stomach and my doctor tells me it is from swallowing air when I eat and even when I talk. How can I avoid this?—R.N.

Eat slowly. Don't gulp liquids. When talking, notice whether you have the unconscious habit of pausing between words and taking a "gulp" of air through the mouth. The best way to avoid this is to always breathe through the nose, with the mouth closed. Tense people may also swallow frequently—and this contributes some air.

OTTAWA REPORT

Rudderless Mess That's Canada!

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Canada has been described by the authoritative British weekly—the "Economist"—as "a rudderless mess." It certainly seems like an unsteered bulk, blown now this way by winds from Quebec and now that way by winds from Washington. And as for its parliamentary crew—that looks like a football field with both offensive teams, both defensive teams, both kicking units and both punt-return units, all running around the field at the same time with no referees in sight.

The Liberals are split, some crying "Go right" and others "Go left," some saying "slow" and others "too fast." The Conservatives are certainly divided. The Social Crediters are recognized as two separate parties. And the New Democrats have split in two to vote.

In these circumstances, it was bound to happen. Many good Canadians, in various parts of Canada, are trying to raise a banner which would attract the great majority of their sensible brothers.

In Ottawa, a "Confederation Club" has been formed. In Montreal, a similar club has been formed. From the west we hear talk of a Confederation Party to foster national unity with a philosophy of Christian democracy.

The present balkanization of our politics may well be the melting pot out of which just two strong parties will ultimately emerge. With five separate parties competing for popular support as at present, the only alternative to unstable minority government is a fluid and unreliable coalition. We have no tradition of firm coalition in our politics.

The need for, and advantages in, some new vehicle for political togetherness has been recognized by Mr. Robert Thompson, the national leader of the Social Credit Party. In a "progress report" to his party's national council, he has this to say:

"The Social Credit movement has come to the dividing of the ways. The question is whether to adhere blindly to the financial analysis and terminology first set out by Major C. H. Douglas under the name 'Social Credit' or, basing itself firmly on the philosophy and basic analysis of Douglas, work out for itself a coherent policy of government, including financial reform, which will offer to the Canadian people the prospect of government which respects the rights of the individual, and the demands of basic Christian principles. I am convinced that the latter is the correct course, and one which could save the banner of our party all who are disheartened at the gains now steadily being made by militant communism and materialism both inside and outside Canada."

"I also believe," continued Mr. Thompson, "that it is through respect for individual rights, and the protection of the rights of provinces as laid down in the original pattern of Confederation, that we can achieve the national unity that stands in jeopardy at the present time, and which we all desire. I am also convinced that the four basic principles of Social Credit provide an inherently right political approach on which these and similar problems can be solved. Canada, as a nation approaching its centennial, likewise stands at a critical watershed. The rise of Quebec nationalism, and the inability of either of the old political parties to provide a satisfactory financial answer to the economic problems which beset us, place an ever-darkening cloud over the country's future. The first that we cannot continue as we are become rapidly more obvious to more and more people."

Mr. Thompson urged a new name for his party. With a new name, and a working policy and image such as he suggests, the door would be opened to an influx of party members, he believes.

It is significant that a national party leader, as well as private groups of citizens in Ottawa and Montreal, are now using the suggested name "Confederation Party."

Not Even Wags Exhume Home

LONDON (CP) — The wags can't get enough of "gentle Alec" wooing his countrymen in the glens.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home is not only campaigning for a seat in the House of Commons—the by-election is Nov. 7—but also running the prime minister's office from "Andy's place"—the Perthshire home of Maj. Andrew Drummond—Moray, his host.

Trying hard to be just folks in cloth cap and tweeds, Sir Alec drives from Andy's place to various villages and greets the voters in this manner:

"How very nice of you all to turn out to meet me when you're busy on a Monday morning."

Sir Alec is liked by high and low but he was the 14th Earl of Home so long that it sticks in the minds of most of the men in solid caps and gamekeepers in well-worn plus fours—especially when he hits a hamlet with an outrageous outnumbering the population.

Some people are amusingly reminded of the play by William Douglas-Home, Sir Alec's brother, describing the political adventures of a droll Scottish peer.

Comments the Edinburgh Scotsman: "Never surely, has Britain seen a by-election quite like this one in Kinross—West Perthshire."

But it was the acerbicity of one of Douglas-Home's six opponents, comedian William Rushton, that particularly fascinated The Scotsman reporter, not the prime minister himself.

The portly Rushton, 28, was a comical figure indeed as he materialized in the mists of Kinross, in the land where Mary Queen of Scots played as a child.

Rushton said that like Bonnie Prince Charlie he will attract supporters as he goes along but he had no comment on the defeat that eventually befell the famed Scottish hero.

Douglas-Home has, of course, disclaimed the 14th earldom but Rushton, an independent, pretends not to know this and persists in calling him Lord Home, pronounced to rhyme with fume.

Rushton has a simple platform: Anti-Home. One of his helpers is Mark Heathcoat Amory, nephew of Lord Amory, retired high commissioner to Canada.

Rushton says that if he were not a candidate he would back the Labor entry, newly married Andrew Forrester, because he admires him for sacrificing his honeymoon to campaign.

There also is a Scottish Nationalist cartoonist, prompting one London cartoonist to show killed gentlemen gazing with consternation at a banner urging "Home rule for Scotland."

One Patrick O'Hoggin says in a letter to The Daily Mirror:

"Maybe I have a twisted sense of Homer (pronounced humour) but it does seem funny to me, as an Irishman, that it took so long to get Home rule for England."

The premier's aristocratic background provides an apparently inextinguishable source of inspiration for sometimes-caustic wits. A columnist reports this doggerel has been circulating at Whitehall:

Is Burke's Peerage a tome
Or a tomb
When an earl known as
Home or as Hume
For a season of fame
Decides to disclaim
What not even ex-Home
can exhume.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HOSPITAL REPLY

Dear Sir:
It is to be regretted that your correspondent "Grandma's Lye Soap" did not sign the letter published in "The Daily Courier" of November 1st, referring to the Kelowna General Hospital; failure to do so gives rise to the questions, is your correspondent certain of the statements made, and is he or she genuine, otherwise why must identity be hidden. Further whilst the writer states "This letter is meant to build" the text of the letter defeats that very object, insofar as it seems an overall criticism of medical practice in hospitals and hospitals in general, ending up with an appeal to do something, but with no suggestion as to what is to be done, and no rallying point.

Last perhaps a few of your readers may be influenced by the letter, it is probably as well to point out that the generalities and criticisms so widely flung out by your correspondent to have any basis should be supported by facts, that the standards used by the correspondent in judging infection and cleanliness are in fact modern high standards, and not easier pre-war standards, and he or she should then proceed to demonstrate that these standards are not met.

The hospital is more than meeting the acceptable standards, and of vital interest too to the public should be the knowledge that the performance of the hospital is rigorously checked each month against the accepted standards, and the first to take steps to correct any indication of falling behind, would be the doctors and hospital personnel, who, from the tone of the letter under reply, may be thought disinterested.

HAS HALAL MEAT

If any useful purpose is served by publication, then the public may know that the maximum permissible infection rate, of which "staph" is only a portion, in a hospital accredited by the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation is two per cent, the Kelowna General Hospital rate is 0.8 per cent, i.e. the hospital is 1.2 per cent under. Further the hospital is accredited which is the hallmark of a good hospital.

When your correspondent referred to cleanliness, sterilizing, etc. there is such a wide field covered that a detailed reply would be too long. However, whilst the hospital continues to meet the standards set by the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation, the inspector of hospitals and public health, the public need have no qualms.

In conclusion, if this reply has shown that the hospital does not have "staph" lurking in every corner, that sick people may continue to come to the hospital in the secure knowledge that all possible will be done to cure for them, and that the hospital is a place of refuge and hope, then it will have served its purpose.

Yours truly,
C. F. LAVERY,
Administrator

Cocktails will be followed by a sit down dinner at 8 p.m. during which Miss Patricia Haddock will entertain the guests with selections on the Hammond organ, and later in the evening dancing will take place to the music of Carl Dunaway's Orchestra.

Among those entertaining friends prior to the Ball are Fire Chief and Mrs. Charles Pettman, Assistant Fire Chief and Mrs. Jack Roberts, Chairman of the Ball Committee Jack Arthur and Mrs. Arthur, Master of Ceremonies Victor Haddock and Mrs. Haddock, Westbank Fire Chief J. W. Maddock and Mrs. Maddock, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Newton, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riddle and Fireman Philip Ramage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. MacLennan and Mrs. T. B. Upton, Kelowna, have returned home after attending "Norma" at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. MacLennan attended the Tuesday concert at the Theatre last week, while Mrs. Upton travelled to Victoria to stay with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. John Walker.

Miss H. M. Duke, Eldorado Road, returned home this week after attending the opera Norma and the Tuesday concert at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre in Vancouver last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gordon have received word that their son, Jim Gordon, who is at present teaching at Celista, B.C., has received his B.A. Degree from UBC.

Winners of the Senior Citizens' Raffles which were drawn in the classroom following last Friday's meeting are Mrs. E. Richmond, Lloyd-Jones Home, who won the hamper and Jacob Wichter, R.R. 4, Vernon, who won the crocheted dolly.

Soroptimist Club Shaggy Dog Sale

The Soroptimist Club of Kelowna is holding a "Shaggy Dog" sale on Friday, November 8 from 2-5 p.m. at the Centennial Hall of the Memorial Arena.

The emphasis of the sale will be on good used clothing but there will also be gift items, flowers, costume jewelry and hats for sale and refreshments will be served.

The proceeds from the "Shaggy Dog" event will go towards one of the Soroptimist Club's major projects which is the Shattered Workshop at the Sunnyvale School for Retarded Children which provides a program for older retarded persons. As well as offering the chance of a little social life to these older "children" the workshop teaches those who are capable of learning and provides therapy for those who are not. Hooked rugs and stools are made and simple furniture is repaired but money is always needed to buy the necessary materials and the workshop cannot be entirely self supporting. The Soroptimists hope you will all attend the "Shaggy Dog Sale" Friday where you are sure to find something you can use.

ANN LANDERS

No Equipment Home No More Chiseling!

Dear Ann Landers: My husband, Tony, is a barber. He works hard all day long and when the poor guy gets home at night he is pooped.

We both come from large families and I'm sick and tired of the way everybody takes advantage of him. For example, last week Tony's two brothers came over with their five sons and they all needed haircuts. It was 11:00 o'clock before Tony was able to sit down and read the newspaper.

Sunday my big-shot brother came over for a haircut. He is always "too busy" to get a haircut during the day. Then my uncle dropped in with his son and when he saw Tony cutting Angelo's hair he said, "As long as the scissors are out how about us, too?"

I can count 10 free family haircuts this week and it's only Wednesday. How can we put a stop to this without getting everyone mad at us?—TONY'S WIFE

Dear Wife: If you want to keep a pair of sewing scissors in the house, O.K.—but all hair scissors should be at the barber shop.

From now on when the fur-bearing chiselers arrive tell them "Sorry, but the equipment is in the shop—no more haircutting at home."

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter for the benefit of that heartbroken mother whose son didn't get into Harvard, Yale or Princeton.

I can speak with authority because our son applied to all three schools and was accepted by all three. He is now a junior at one of these "choice" institutions of learning and I wish he had gone to a small state university instead.

When Roland left for college he was wholesome, well-groomed and pulled up her stockings should be told.

Confidential to PERFECTIONIST OR NAG: A girl who doesn't know enough to wash her neck and pull up her stockings should be told.

Shown above are Constable Peter Kelly of the Niagara Falls City Police and Betty Norton, R.N., who volunteered to help plant some of the 25,000 daffodil bulbs in Queen Victoria Park. The bulbs were given to the Niagara Parks Commission by the Netherlands Flower-Bulb Institute through the Greater Niagara Unit of the Canadian Society.

Saint Mary's Anglican Church Scene Of Fraser-Weiss Wedding

A quiet wedding of much interest took place in East Kelowna at St. Mary's Anglican Church on Saturday, October 12, when Rev. Cyril Clarke unit-ed in marriage Margaret Marina Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Weiss of Okanagan Mission, and Dr. Vernon Fraser, formerly of Prince George, B.C.

The pretty bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an off-white sheath wool model featuring a crossed neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Her hat was modelled with white velvet leaves, and had a small veil. Her shoes and gloves were in a mocha shade and she wore a corsage of Talmann roses.

Her only attendant was the sister of the groom, Miss Susan Fraser of Calgary, who wore a two-piece sheath of pale blue silk, and a wool felt high crowned beige hat, long black gloves and black patent leather shoes.

The best man was John Fraser of Vancouver, a university classmate of the groom.

At the reception for close relatives held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother chose a sheath model of turquoise wool and a high crowned beige wool felt hat. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of coral carnations.

The host to the bride was proposed by John Fraser, and ably responded to by the groom. The bride's table was centred by a wedding cake, set on an extra cloth crocheted by the bride's mother.

For their honeymoon to Eastern Canada points the bride donned a wool coat in a soft blue shade.

The groom, who has been practicing medicine in Prince George for a number of years, intends to pursue some post-graduate studies. The bride is a graduate of Queen's University at Kingston in the Science of Nursing. She has worked at Toronto and at Kelowna, and has spent the past several months visiting her parents at Okanagan Mission. — By the Okanagan Mission Correspondent.

Bride-Elect Honored At Kitchen Shower

Miss Penny Thornton-Trump, whose marriage to Colin B. George takes place on Saturday, November 9, was guest of honor at a kitchen shower held recently at the Abbott St. home of Mrs. P. E. Lewis. Co-hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Ronald Prosser and Mrs. Norman Fredrick.

Fall flowers graced the tea tables and the gifts were brought in in a beautifully decorated box representing an orchard box with an imitation blossoming tree in one corner.

The bride-to-be received many useful and varied gifts, after which coffee and delightful refreshments were served by the Misses Katherine and Carolyn Prosser, Margaret and Nancy Trump.

Bucs Grip Second Spot With Win Over Vernon

VERNON (Staff) — Kelowna's Bukaroff also had an assist as the Bucs took a strange lead on a second place in Okanagan Junior Hockey League standing by virtue of a narrow 3-2 win over Vernon Blades Tuesday night at Vernon Civic Arena.

The Bukaroff win gives them eight points, four more than collar-wielding Vernon, who have a meagre two-win, seven-loss record for a total of four points.

In Tuesday's contest it was anybody's game right up to the final whistle as both clubs kept up a steady pressure which on more than one occasion brought the 600-odd fans to their feet in the thrilling game.

Top Kelowna marksman was team captain Terry Kasubuchi who scored twice, with singles coming off the sticks of Marcelle Versa, John Strong, Gordie Schepf and Richard Buloch. Buloch and Schepf also picked up a pair of assists apiece. Versa and Strong also added an assist each to their credit.

Big gun for the Blades was centreman Mike Coulter with two goals and one assist. Other marksmen were Buck Sher, Wayne Wutke and Ralph Lit-

PRE-DAWN FLIGHT TO MEETING WITH DEATH

Diem's Last Hours Told

Censorship and family communications have kept locked in Saigon many details of the revolt which overthrew South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem. In the following dispatch, Associated Press Correspondent Malcolm W. Browne tells of Diem's last hours.

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON (AP)—A pre-dawn flight through suburban tunnels, a speeding car ride, a visit to a suburban church, a trip inside an armored personnel carrier and sudden death.

Such were the final hours of Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu. Such was the death of a regime and a nine-year era of Vietnamese history. The cycle of violence, revenge and more revenge that has characterized Viet Nam through most of its history was repeated.

No two accounts of what happened to Diem and Nhu last Saturday morning are exactly alike. The handful of soldiers who attended the death of the two former leaders inside an American-made M-113 personnel carrier are the only sure witnesses. Their accounts certainly will be tailored to put themselves in the best light.

Friends of the Diem regime call the deaths murder and a mark of shame against the new revolutionary government.

CENSORSHIP IMPOSED
The government itself has asserted that Diem and Nhu committed suicide and has censored all cable dispatches to the contrary.

All that is certain is that Diem and Nhu died of massive wounds were spirited to a guarded hospital and swiftly prepared for burial.

"After all those two men did to the Vietnamese people, they deserve whatever they got," an enemy of the old regime said. "Diem and Nhu did the only honorable thing done all that day," said a friend of the regime.

however, as Woodward made another feeble attempt at stopping an easy shot. This time Kasubuchi picked up a short two-way pass from Buloch and Schepf at 17:10 to go in and score.

Just seven seconds after Kasubuchi's goal, it was the Bucs again, this time Schepf had the honor as he took the puck from the face-off to score at 17:17.

Still showing plenty of fighting spirit, the Blades came back again with a single marker. Sher's was the mastermind on this one as he went in alone to beat MacKinnon at the 17:33 mark.

As a result of Sher's goal, which he actually bounced off the cross bar only to have MacKinnon fumble it over the goal line, a hot argument started. Kelowna claimed the puck did not go over the line, but goal judge Carl Sorenson insisted it did.

Because of the disputed goal, tempers grew to hot and heavy that Bukaroff's Gordie Schepf was sent off for inviting a fight. Also drawing a bench penalty was the Bukaroff squad for giving the goal judge a hard time.

In all, there were 11 penalties handed out by referee Don Jakes, with Kelowna receiving six to Vernon's five. Biggest offender in this department was Blades' Gordie Schepf who picked up one minor and a 10-minute misconduct penalty.

In the shots on goal department, Woodward stopped 18 while MacKinnon at the other end of the rink came through with 28 big saves.

SUMMARY:
FIRST PERIOD:
1. Kelowna, Versa (R. Buloch) 10:24, 2. Kelowna, J. Strong, unassisted, 14:04. Penalties—Kasubuchi 6:34, Schepf 11:31.

SECOND PERIOD:
3. Kelowna, Kasubuchi (Versa) 2:33, 4. Vernon, Coulter (Nuyens) 7:09. Penalties—D. Buloch (K) 8:06, Tatum (V) 10:26.

THIRD PERIOD:
5. Vernon, Litzberger (Rogan, Coulter) 1:39, 6. Kelowna, H. Buloch (Schepf) 12:09, 7. Vernon, Coulter (Rogan, Litzberger) 12:49, 8. Vernon, Wutke (unassisted) 16:01, 9. Kelowna, Kasubuchi (R. Buloch, Schepf) 17:10, 10. Kelowna, Schepf (unassisted) 17:17, 11. Vernon, Sher (unassisted) 17:33. Penalties—Wilder (K) 9:18, Kinschank (V) 10:31, Schepf (K) 17:33, Versa (K) 17:33 (bench penalty). Chisholm (K) and Sher (V) 18:59.

According to various eyewitnesses along the line, military sources and others, it seems to have happened this way:

The scene was Gia Long Palace—a sumptuously furnished mansion that became the temporary home and headquarters of Diem's family Feb. 27, 1962. On that date, two rebel Vietnamese Air Force fighter pilots bombed the Presidential Palace to rubble in an unsuccessful attempt to kill the family.

Soon after midnight, Saigon became still and dead. Down town streets were deserted, guns were silent.

GUNFIRE RESUMES
Soon after 3 a.m., the cannon came to life again, dropping heavy shells into a building just behind Saigon's telecommunications centre.

Tanks took up positions outside the palace walls.

At 4 a.m., the attack began. Buildings near the palace burned brightly, and answering fire from the palace set two armored vehicles afire.

It is believed Diem and Nhu slipped away from their bastion about the time the final battle began, before marines hacked their way inside the defence perimeter.

The two men, accompanied by a bodyguard named Chung, are supposed to have made their way through a tunnel into a beauty parlor on nearby Le Thanh Ton Street, owned by Mrs. Nguyen Thi Minh, wife of Gen. Nguyen Van La.

Some sources said two other aides—both believed to have been killed—were with Diem and Nhu. They were Cao Xuan Vy, deputy commander of Nhu's Republican Youth Corps, and a colonel named Ky Quan Lien.

GUARDS CAPITULATE
Exhausted palace guards after heavy casualties hoisted a white flag at 6:37 a.m.

Marines, paratroopers and soldiers swarmed into the building. But the prizes of battle, Diem and Nhu, were gone. A black Peugeot sedan had long since sped away. It probably will

Hospital Expansion Plans Include Psychiatric Care

VERNON (Staff) — Plans for future expansion of accommodation facilities at Vernon Jubilee Hospital are being made to include psychiatric care.

Hospital administrator W. H. Maynard said today, the matter was discussed at a recent hospital board meeting and "we found it was part of the trend in Canada and North America to include in the planning for new buildings an area for psychiatric care."

"At Vernon Jubilee Hospital we have an area designed which could be easily converted to psychiatric care, but until a psychiatrist is available it will be used for convalescent care. It is an expendable area which can accommodate from eight to 15, to a maximum of 30 patients if necessary."

Psychiatric care at the hospital might not become a reality for years, depending upon the availability of a psychiatrist and also whether such planning

Family Says He's A Devil

TORONTO (CP)—An elderly man was back in Toronto Western Hospital today because his family thinks he's a representative of the devil.

He returned home with an escort of two doctors and a policeman Wednesday, but his wife, age and daughter-in-law, refused to believe he is still alive, screaming: "Take the devil away!"

They barricaded themselves in the home, beating on windows to scare the men—over 70—away. Police, afraid the family might injure themselves, forced an entry and took them to a mental institution.

A month ago, the man was admitted to hospital with an infection. He progressed rapidly and was ready to go home two weeks later.

His family, however, was convinced he was dead. A few days after he entered hospital, they went to the family doctor and demanded the man's body.

They refused to believe the doctor when he told them the man was in hospital and accused him of hiding the body. Police were called and evicted them from the doctor's office. Hospital authorities said the man may have to be sent to a senior citizens' home.

DIE IN CARRIER
The convoy headed back toward downtown Saigon. By the time it reached general staff headquarters, Diem and Nhu were dead.

A certain captain is said to have shot both men, and two soldiers with him are said to have stabbed Nhu several times with bayonets.

Some said Diem and Nhu were shot in the back.

Fleming Urges Tax Plan To Aid Forest Industry

OTTAWA (Special) — A continued program of special tax legislation geared to the requirements of the forestry industry was advocated here by Stuart Fleming, Conservative MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke.

Taking part in debate on the estimates of the Department of Forestry, Mr. Fleming recalled that when the forestry industry had come to Ottawa in 1959 its representatives said that in order to develop and expand its export markets, it must have some advantages. The 11 per cent sales tax that the present government has imposed on building materials and production machinery would not be compensated for by the three per cent discount on the Canadian dollar.

"The British Columbia forestry industry was not interested in a three per cent advantage. They felt they needed something more in order to improve their competitive position in the export markets which are so vital to them," Mr. Fleming declared.

He said there were plans for projected pulp mills at Prince George and Kamloops and the 11 per cent sales tax on production machinery has added to the capital costs of these developments. Those behind the developments will have to pass on their additional capitalization costs in the cost of their product and they claimed to be in a tough competitive world and need every advantage they can get.

Turning to forest fire protection, Mr. Fleming said the 10-year average of acreage burned in forest fires is about 2,100,000. But in 1961 there were 9,300,000 acres burned, an increase of almost 600 per cent in that year.

When emergencies arise, it is usual to send in units of the army to help fight the fires but inexperienced men could do very little good.

If a separate national fire-fighting force can't be established for economic reasons, then units of the army should be especially trained in this work. Trained men would then be ready to be sent wherever needed, play a more effective role and there would be less danger of risking lives.

Trusteeship Gains Allies

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Government trusteeship of the Sealers' International Union (SIU) and four other Canadian maritime unions was overwhelmingly approved from 1,000 delegates to the Ontario Federation of Labor (OFL) convention here Tuesday.

Representatives of the province's 500,000-man labor force were in solid agreement that unions could not expect to keep their independence if they were internally infected with gangsterism and hoodlumism.

The convention's support followed an impassioned speech by the Canadian Labor Congress secretary-treasurer, Donald MacDonald, who described SIU President Hal Banks as a "neurotic, power-mad bull, who is a disgrace to humanity, to say nothing of the trade union movement."

VIEWS ON SPORTING NEWS

by BILL STAATS

A shot bounced out of an Art Ross net. To a casual observer this may not have much meaning but people who have been with the game and followed it will query this statement.

You aren't the only ones who question the accusation. So did 15 members of the Kelowna Rockets hockey club and a number of fans attending Tuesday night's game in Vernon. These acts, presently in use in Vernon, are guaranteed by the inventor, Art Ross, to prevent a puck from bouncing out, once it has been shot into the net, no matter where it hits behind the goal line.

But, that is what the goal judge said happened.

The goal was called on a shot from a sharp angle to the left of Kelowna goalie Macklin.

Macklin was on his knees, about two feet from the left head post and a foot from the goal line. From where we saw it, the shot glanced off the post and Macklin caught the disc on his chest.

The play was stopped and Kelowna's Schnepf was penalized for inciting a fight.

The referee returned to talk to the goal judge and then the hubbub began. Vernon was awarded a goal. A Kelowna player apparently had some choice words for the official. Schnepf was pulled out of the box because a goal was scored and a two minute bench penalty was allotted to Kelowna.

Acting captain Terry Kasubuchi questioned the goal judge at considerable length about where the puck had hit and bounced out. The judge was unable to be more specific than to say it went into the net.

I hope I never see another game that was handled as poorly as Tuesday night's game in Vernon.

The game was tied late in the third period when an icing call was not made. The linesman's arm was up to signal the infraction but the whistle didn't sound. About six seconds later Vernon tied the game.

It wasn't the only infraction missed. Offsides and icing calls were missed throughout the game. In the first week or so of league play we might be able to attribute it to rustiness, but it's getting a bit late in the season for that type of ruff.

A couple of serious injuries could have resulted from charging and cross-checking. The only thing that prevented these serious injuries, was the ability of the players to defend to take the infractions like a lower roll away from a punch.

To cap these two cases, there wasn't a penalty called either time.

If charging a player 40 feet and then slamming him into the boards isn't charging, our humble apologies for a misinterpretation of the rule book.

In the same light, a stick pushed into a player's face is usually defined as cross-checking or high-sticking. But, someone missed it, or else it wasn't considered a serious enough infraction to warrant a penalty.

My intention is not to run every referee in the league into the ground because he missed some minor calls. It happens in every rank from Pups to the NHL.

However, it is the responsibility of referees to ensure a player's safety while he is playing.

It should be their job to discourage players from taking little swipes at opponents' heads, keep the straying knees in order, as well as the elbows and tempers.

Perhaps Mr. Referee-in-Chief should take a very close look at what is being permitted in the Valley in the Valley in connection with items outlined in the above paragraph. When the referee has a loose hold on the game, players will instinctively see how much they can get away with. Bigger or later something serious will happen.

While the referee is the undisputed boss of the game, let's hope they will be fair and impartial in their decisions. A hockey game that is fair, isn't good unless it's clean. We don't want to have the possibility of teams coming away from games with injured members, because the reins slipped or were never in his hands.

We are under the impression that these referees are in the game because they are interested in seeing young men having a chance at a game that many of them enjoy. If they aren't and don't care what happens to the players as long as they get their few bucks for calling the game, throw them out—we're here for sport, not for hell-raising.

Olympics Launch Series Seven Games In Nine Days

EDMONTON (CP)—Canada's Olympic hockey team launches a seven-game exhibition series Friday in Saskatoon and it will give the club a sample of the tight, compressed schedule it can expect overseas this winter.

The Olympics, organized after a training camp in Edmonton in August, will play seven games in nine days. The action and between-game travel will test to the limit the endurance of the hockey players who will represent Canada at the 1964 Winter Olympic Games.

The tour is part of a stiff, 40-game pre-Olympic schedule arranged for the Olympics by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and coach Rev. David Bauer. Father Bauer is a brother of former National League star Bobby Bauer.

The Olympics so far have won eight of 10 starts against amateur teams and two of five games against clubs in professional hockey leagues.

"SONNY ECLIPSE" BY CASSIUS CLAY

DENVER (AP)—Cassius Clay recited a space-age ode here after agreeing to fight Sonny Liston for the world's heavyweight boxing championship in February.

"For those of you who won't be able to see the Clay-Liston fight," Clay told reporters, "here is the eighth round, exactly as it will happen."

Clay comes out to meet Liston and Liston starts to retreat.

Liston goes back an inch farther he'll end up in a ring-side seat.

Liston keeps backing but there's not enough room, It's a matter of time until Clay lowers the boom.

Then Clay lands with a right—what a beautiful swing, And the punch raised The Bear clear out of the ring.

Liston is still reeling and the red wears a frown, But he can't start counting until Sonny comes down.

Now Liston disappears from view; the crowd is getting frantic.

But our radar stations have picked him somewhere over the Atlantic.

Who on earth thought when they came to the fight, That they would witness the launching of a human satellite?

Yes, the crowd did not dream when they held down their money.

That they would see a total eclipse of the Sun."

Hull's Quote True Chi' Improved

Bobby Hull put himself on the spot last summer, but if he keeps backing up his statements the Chicago Black Hawks may win their first National Hockey League championship.

Hull—and a few other Hawks—blamed coach Rudy Pilous for their collapse late last season. They said they practised too hard and the pre-season exhibition schedule wore them out before the regular campaign even started.

Owner James D. Norris and general manager Tommy Ivan gave the players the benefit of the doubt and fired Pilous, replacing him with Billy Reay. Then it was up to Hull, Stan Mikita and the other outspoken Hawks to prove Chicago's misfortune was caused by the coach and not the players themselves.

The Hawks have shown no signs of premature fatigue this season. They currently hold a six-point lead atop the NHL standings.

The flying start—eight wins, two ties, only one loss—has been due mostly to Hull and Mikita, who have been enjoying equal individual success.

Mikita engineered Chicago's early spurt and lately Hull has been the sparkplug. Tuesday night, the blond whirlwind helped set up two Chicago goals and scored the winner with 30 seconds remaining in the game as the Hawks dumped New York 3-2 in the only NHL game played.

HULL, MIKITA TIED

It was Hull's 7th goal of the season and the two assists drew him even with Mikita in the individual point standings with seven goals and nine assists each. At the same point last season, Mikita had 10 points and Hull just two goals.

The victory was Chicago's fourth straight and extended their unbeaten streak to nine games, longest since 1939-40. It gave them 18 points, six more than Montreal and eight more than Toronto.

Bill Hay gave the Hawks a 1-0 lead 27 seconds after the opening whistle and Mikita added another in the second before Dick Melsner scored for the Rangers late in the middle frame.

Vic Hadfield tied it up at 14:23 of the final period, but at 19:40 Hull grabbed the puck during a goalmouth scramble and whipped it by Jacques Plante to give the Hawks a squeaker before 12,642 Hawks fans.

The league is idle tonight but a full slate is scheduled Thursday with the Hawks at Montreal, Toronto at Boston and New York at Detroit.

Canuck Wins Jump Event

NEW YORK (CP)—A tall Canadian horsewoman won the first international jumping event at the annual National Horse show Tuesday while the West German Olympic team swept most of the jumping events before an opening-night crowd.

Gail Ross, 21, from Edmonton, was in perfect form riding Thunder Bird over the 115-foot course. She won with a faultless ride in a jumpoff and then Gayford of Toronto finished second. He, too, had a perfect ride but he was 1.1 seconds slower than Miss Ross.

Miss Ross, who spent last summer sharpening her riding in England, competed in a field of 19 entries from five countries—Canada, West Germany, the United States, Argentina and the Republic of Ireland.

Actually, she had to put together two faultless rides to win the Frederick D. MacKay memorial challenge trophy in the afternoon events that preceded the official opening at night.

Hermann Schniedde of West Germany also cleared every barrier to take third place.

At the end of the first round, American Bill Robertson and Frank Chapot were also declared winners with Miss Ross, Gayford and Schniedde.

During the jumpoff, however, Robertson as a third horse, knocked down the second fence for four faults, while Chapot, aboard Manton, tipped over the third and fifth barriers for eight faults, although the dareddevil Olympian posted the fastest time—33 seconds.

Miss Ross cleared each fence as she won the event on an elapsed time basis with a 39.8 clearing Gayford, riding Blue Bear, was second with 40.8 while Schniedde, riding Indes, was third with 41.2. Robertson was fourth, Chapot fifth and sixth place went to Moffat Dunlop of Toronto aboard Old Hawk.

The Canadian horsewoman explained her strategy afterwards. "When the jumpoff started, the team agreed that we would try to go first and worry about time later," she said. "I sent Thunder Bird as fast as I dared without trying to run him off his feet. He left the ground when I asked him to and we managed to save some time at the turns."

Kurt Janssens, a member of the West German team that won the gold medal in the equestrian events at the 1960 Olympics in Rome, captured the Democrat national challenge trophy in the night session.

Smokies Tie Rossland 7-7

ROSSLAND (CP)—Trail Smokeaters, with Norm Lenardon scoring the tying goal with only 10 seconds left in regulation play, battled Rossland Warriors to a 7-7 overtime tie in the Western International Hockey League action Tuesday night.

Warriors by gaining the tie increased their lead in first place to three points over the second-place Spokane Jets.

Charge On Dying Babies Termed Public Mischief

Health Minister Martin Tuzo accused Dr. R. E. Adams, medical director of St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria, of gross irresponsibility and public mischief when he rejected Dr. Adams' charge that too many babies are dying in a British Columbia hospital because of the provincial government's financial "harassment" as completely invalid. He also rejected the B.C. Hospital Association's plea for a continuing province-wide study of infant mortality. Mr. Martin said in an interview the health department examines every hospital case and investigates any unusual circumstances.

Owen (S.M.C.) that on Oct. 28 he approached the chairman of the trustees toward Mr. Justice Victor I. Dwyer, about making interim reports Mr. MacEachen said Mr. Justice Dwyer indicated his readiness to supply such reports "but felt he ought to get settled in his job" before submitting the first one.

Three Children Stabbed To Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two young boys and their sister were found stabbed to death in their suburban home. Their father was found unconscious in an automobile. Police said he attempted to take his own life.

Detectives were unable to question George Vidovich, 35, machinist. He was in serious condition at St. Francis General Hospital. His wife, Jean, is a patient in the same hospital with tuberculosis.

Mrs. Sara Kunz, a neighbor, found the children—George Jr., 14, Richard, 9, and Joann, 11—in their beds after she received a call from relatives who said repeated telephone calls to the Vidovich home brought no response.

SUBSTITUTE BAPTISM MOSCOW (Reuters)—State-conducted "christening" ceremonies, called "the ceremonial registration of newborn children" have begun in Leningrad, the newspaper Leningradskaya Pravda reports. ## Church Graduates To Serve In Forces

France Tells ECM Partners To Boost Tariffs On Steel

PARIS (AP)—France is urging her European Market partners to increase the trade bloc's tariffs on steel.

If the other five countries don't go along, France could act unilaterally through a loophole in the six-nation steel-coal treaty. Such action would endanger European economic unity.

The French government proposed the steel tariff increase Oct. 7 at a ministerial meeting of the coal-steel pool. The West German government, at the time still headed by Konrad Adenauer, supported the French. The question is due to be decided at a meeting in Luxembourg Dec. 2.

The French proposals—to return to the tariff schedule that prevailed before 1954—would virtually double the tariff on certain types of steel imported by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The United States opposes any increase in European steel tariffs and is considering taking the matter to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. It was debated here today. The OECD links the United States and Canada with western Europe in an institution designed to remove trade barriers.

Although a relatively small amount of steel is affected—about 3,000,000 tons—the United States was reported to feel that any increase in steel tariffs could have a disastrous effect on Western commerce. Not only is steel an important commodity, but steel prices directly affect a whole range of other products.

The United States also feels that a rise in European duties on steel would have an adverse effect on the forthcoming "Kennedy round" of trade negotiations next year within the framework of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva.

Tough Convicts To Be Tougher

VANCOUVER (CP)—Command-type training for "tough" convicts in British Columbia has been described by a top corrections official as a bold step in prison reform.

William McGrath, executive director of the Canadian Corrections Association, spoke in an interview about a new camp on Vancouver Island, near Campbell River.

It is concentrating on development of iron muscles and clear heads. Graduates would ideally take work as forest service shock troops and search party personnel hunting lost woodsmen and sportsmen.

"I can't say now whether it is going to succeed or not, but it is indicative of the atmosphere of experimentation and adventure in which prison officials here work," Mr. McGrath said.

Here for a week-long visit to the province, Mr. McGrath said he hopes to establish a case for the teaching of law in schools.

He said today's youth is so often blamed for not having a proper respect for the law when many of them don't know what it is.
